

Kene Iloenyosi is the founder of Talent Revolution, a company that helps people identify their career Sweet Spot based on their natural abilities. His clients have been in the workforce for several years, do not like the work they do, are desperate to switch jobs or careers and need help selecting the right career path.

Kene is an author, coach and professional speaker, and his books "Finding Your Sweet Spot" and "DNA of Talent" have helped put thousands of people on the path to discovering their talents. He believes deeply that "you are how you are for why you are," and wants to help people uncover their "how."

Kene joined Toastmasters in 2004 and served as District 14 Governor from 2011 – 2012. He and his wife Lucy live in Johns Creek, Georgia.

To find out more about Kene Iloenyosi or his company Talent Revolution, go to www.talentrevolution.me.

Speech Topic:

How I Went from Free to Fee: If I can, so can you!

Have you ever been at an event, listening to a keynote speaker and thought to yourself "I'd like to do that" or better still, "I can do that?" I know the feeling.

Many people think these thoughts but never bring them to life. I did; and I'll tell you how at this session on "How I Went From Free to Fee."